

Jackson Garden and Patio Show

Friday, March 14, 2008

11:00 am - Building a Hypertufa Trough

Donna Beliech, MSU Area Horticultural Agent, Brandon, MS, will show you how to create these ancient looking vessels for growing and decorating on your porch, patio or deck.

12:30 pm - 'GardenMama's Grow Kit' Overlooked and Alternative Garden Products

Nellie Neal, 'GardenMama' will give you a show and tell of garden products to make your task easier and your garden more beautiful. She'll be giving away door prizes too!

2:00 pm - Captivating Combinations for the Landscape

Norman Winter, Extension Horticulturist, MSU Central MS Research and Extension Center, will show you what flower partners go together to create a dazzling show of color in the landscape.

3:30 pm - A Fun Thyme in the Garden

Dr. Lelia Kelly, Extension Horticulturist, MSU North MS Research and Extension Center, has become known as Mississippi's favorite promoter of growing and harvesting fresh herbs. You'll leave ready for a new culinary experience.

Saturday, March 15, 2008

9:45 am - Coneflowers for Mississippi

Dr. Gary Bachman, Extension Horticulturist, MSU Coastal Research and Extension Center, will show you how to have bouquets of coneflowers all season long in South Mississippi.

11:00 am - What is this and can I eat it?

Dr. David Nagel, MSU Extension Horticulturist, will show you how to have a landscape that is not only beautiful, but also full of culinary delights for the table.

12:15 pm - Landscape Designs that Engage the Senses, Improve Property Value & Reduce the Risk of Crime

Terry Powell, Powell Place Landscape Services, will motivate you in creating and designing your landscape for maximum appeal, usability and satisfaction of the senses.

1:30 pm - Captivating Combinations for the Landscape

Norman Winter, Extension Horticulturist, MSU Central MS Research and Extension Center, will show you what flower partners go together to create a dazzling show of color in the landscape.

2:45 pm - Our Passion-One World: Why What We Do Matters

Philip Robinson with the Madison Planting and Design Group will visually stimulate you to see the possibilities in your landscape and how it impacts you, your family and your neighborhood.

4:00 pm - Pathological Passions in the Garden

Dr. Alan Henn, MSU Extension Plant Pathologist, is known far and wide as the man who put the fun in fungus. You'll leave laughing and knowing you can have healthy flowers, vegetables and lawn too!

Sunday, March 16, 2008

11:30 am - Captivating Combinations for the Landscape

Norman Winter, Extension Horticulturist, MSU Central MS Research and Extension Center, will show you what flower partners go together to create a dazzling show of color in the landscape.

1:00 pm - Thriller, Spiller and Filler-Designing Mixed Containers

Lori Hitchcock, owner of Natchez Trace Gardens in Kosciusko, MS, will show you how to create incredible plantings in containers that will be the envy of your friends and neighbors.

2:30 pm - The Peggy Martin Rose Symbol of Gulf Coast Survival

Peggy Martin, Consulting Rosarian, New Orleans, LA will share with you the tale of this historic rose and recommend others you need to try during this special presentation.